

BIG INDIAN MILL HAD $40,000 FIRE

Crackshank Establishment Burned Sunday Night—Many Hands Lost—Small Amount of Insurance Carried.

The Crackshank Mill at Big Indian was burned to the ground late Sunday night with a quantity of lumber and supplies, the total loss being estimated at $40,000. The insurance is said to be less than a third of that figure. The steam whistle on the mill was blown to give the alarm but the fire had made such headway in the frame structure that volunteers could do little in fighting the flames which spread rapidly. The company had on hand about $25,000 in orders for fruit and vegetable crates and two shifts of men have been employed during the week.

Night Watchman George Lasher discovered the fire near the engine room and he at once sounded the whistle. So rapidly did the fire spread that his escape was cut off by the door and he made his exit by a window. As this industry was practically the only one giving employment to residents, the loss will be severely felt. No theories have been stated as to the cause of the fire. Some new machinery was also destroyed with the contents.

Work has been commenced in the rebuilding of the mill and it is understood that a plant to supply the branch factory on Long Island is to be erected as quickly as possible on the present site. The main plant will be rebuilt at once and will double the capacity of the burned structure but the site has not yet been fixed. The Big Indian Wood Products Company, as the Crackshank concern is known, has one contract alone which calls for a half million two bushel crates to be delivered within the next six months.

Hon. Arthur Sager to Address Public Meeting at Court House Friday Evening. To Be Held at 8 o'clock.

The organization committee of the Hughes Alliance have made all necessary arrangements for the meeting to be held at the Court House tomorrow, Friday evening, at 8 o'clock. The work of extending the Alliance is now under way, not only throughout New York state but likewise in many other states, including Pennsylvania, Illinois, Massachusetts, Maryland, Kentucky, New Jersey, Colorado, Kansas, Oregon and California. The national and state officers have been most fortunate in securing an excellent force of speakers to present the cause. Among them the number in Hon. Arthur Sager, who will speak at the meeting in this city on Friday evening. A large number have been signed to their intention to attend.

An effort will be made by the Alliance in conjunction with the Republican organization to secure the presence of the Republican candidate for the presidency for one night of the campaign. Mr. Hughes starts tomorrow for a swing through southern and western New York, beginning at Olean and winding up at Buffalo. In a letter to his cousin, Dr. W. H. Connelly, of this city, the candidate early in the summer said he hoped to have one night in Kingston and it is believed that the biggest campaign rally of the year will result if Mr. Hughes's presence can be assured for a meeting. The matter is now the subject of correspondence with the campaign managers.

The case went to the jury late Wednesday afternoon and the jury returned a sealed verdict this morning. Judge N. Frank O'Reilly and John Cashin appeared for Liccardo and Newton H. Fessenden for the defendants. The case was tried originally in the city court, where judgment was rendered in favor of Liccardo for $96.

DETROIT BANDITS STILL AT LARGE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 28.—Bandits who late last night held up the Michigan Central's fast Chicago-New York Express and escaped after rifling the mail car were still at large today. An all night search of the country and small towns about Detroit failed to reveal any traces of the robbers.

The value of the loot obtained must remain a mystery until postal authorities can check up on the two registered mail pouches, which the bandits made off with. Officials said today they had no estimate of their value.

Railroad officials and officers who led the search for the robbers were fairly confident today that the hold-up was conducted by men who were familiar with the train's operation. This is the opinion of Engineer Palmer, who was running the train.

The hold-up was easily one of the coolest and most daring in modern railroad history. It took place within a few miles of Detroit proper, and two miles east of Dearborn, a small station.

It is believed the robbers boarded the train at Dearborn. They cut off the airbrake, ran the engine and mail car down the track and left the six Pullmans stalled. They were able to get aboard the train after fouling the automatic block system, causing it to show a danger signal.

Two of the bandits crawled over the tender, confronted the engineer and fireman with guns and when the latter became unruly they knocked him unconscious. At the point of a gun the engineer led them to the mail car and it was a simple matter to tow the clerks. Taking the two sacks of registered mail, the robbers ran the engine down, put out its fires and left it stalled. The passengers were unmolested.

The mail taken is believed to have been practically all Chicago matter, destined for New York.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Smith, with an auto-load of deputies, got to the scene long after midnight and searched all night. They worked more or less in the dark, as the robbers operated so silently and speedily that they left few traces. The number of bandits engaged varies. The engineer saw three, but it is believed others were standing guard. It is thought they escaped in an automobile.

BIG CLAMBAKE FOR SOLDIERS

Arrangements and appetites are complete for the big clambake to be given this evening for the members of Company M, the Old Guard Association and the Depot Company at Lake Katrine. The automobiles are in readiness and a large attendance is assured.

METACAHONTS.

Metacahonts, Sept. 28.—Mrs. W. H. Markle and Mrs. Eli Rider were very agreeably entertained over Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. A. D. Alliger at Middletown. They report a very pleasant stay in the city, visiting numerous places of amusement while in town.

The Misses Roxie and Orpha Krom are home from Lake Minnewaska, where they have spent the season. They plan on leaving for high school at Ellenville soon. They will be much missed in the place.

Mrs. Roy Hornbeck and four children, Sarah, Flossie, Willie and Percy, spent Tuesday evening and Wednesday with their aunt, Mrs. Reuben Mackey.

Miss Lulu M. Osterhous plans on attending school at Ellenville next week. We regret Miss Osterhous's departure from among us.

Quite a crowd from this place attended the Millbrook Grove picnic on Tuesday. The picnic, however, was not near as large an affair as in former years owing to different causes; intensity of the season, epidemic of paralysis, no party at night and no dinners or suppers served.

A large crowd was in attendance at the Grahamsville Fair on Wednesday.

Miss Grace Dinger and Miss Helen Dinger were in Kerhonkson on Monday.

William Wood and family will move from their present location to the tenant house of Jesse Osterhous, formerly the residence of the late Permelia Bessemer.

Mrs. Joseph Hendrickson called on Mrs. Fred Hendrickson on Tuesday afternoon.

WALLKILL DAIRYMEN TO OWN CREAMERY

Enthusiastic Meeting of Their League Hears of Nearly $2,000 in Donations And $5,000 of Stock Subscribed—No Trouble to Sell Milk.

Nearly 200 dairymen and dairy-maids of the town of Shawangunk were in session for more than three hours on Wednesday night in the Grange Hall at Wallkill discussing details of the new creamery to be built by a stock company composed of members of the Wallkill Branch of the State Dairymen's League. The only matter not settled and on which there is any great difference of opinion is the location of the creamery and on this topic much language was spilled by the leading advocates of the various sites under consideration. At midnight one strenuous opponent of locating the creamery in Wallkill, backed up against and partly enveloped in the folds of the large American flag at the front of the hall, was still going it strong and with no evidences of approaching exhaustion. While the proceedings were lively and at times somewhat heated, the utmost good nature prevailed and there was no serious disagreement on the more important matters. That the Wallkill Branch is interested, alive to the opportunity and fully able to take care of itself in the fight for better prices, is beyond dispute.

Through Commissioner Dillon of the department of foods and markets, the Wallkill Branch has found a market in New York city for its milk, at the League price, but the milk must be pasteurized. Temporarily, until a creamery and pasteurizing plant can be put in operation in or near Wallkill, the milk will be sent to Kingston to be pasteurized. These shipments will begin on Sunday, October 1. As only one carload of milk a day, about 250 cans, can be handled by the pasteurizing plant in Kingston, and the League already has about 300 cans pledged, it will be necessary for producers to hold on their farms a small percentage of the product, until they have their own plant in operation, when they expect to handle at least double the quantity that will be shipped at present. The creamery will be built as soon as possible, as under the temporary arrangement of shipping milk to Kingston not only must the output be restricted, but there is a freight charge of 2 cents a can to pay.

Wallkill business men are very desirous of having the creamery built on the village and supervisor McElhiney made a most effective presentation of their arguments when he produced checks for $1,875 which they offered to donate in case the creamery was located in Wallkill. In addition to this, Supervisor McElhiney said those who had subscribed for stock in the creamery company had been asked to express their preference as to location and of about $5,000 subscribed, only one person had failed to express a preference for Wallkill.

A resolution for the appointment of a committee to have full power to go ahead with the details for organizing a company and erecting a creamery in Wallkill brought out a lively debate, as to the desirability of the Wallkill site from a sanitary standpoint, in which Mr. Sherwood, the leader of the opposition, was especially eloquent. Advocates of the Wallkill site urged that there were several locations near the village and that they would not be such fools as to invest their money to build a creamery in a place where the board of health would not permit them to operate it.

The motion was finally withdrawn and another one adopted directing the appointment of a new committee to inspect proposed sites and report at a meeting of the League to be held on Saturday evening, of this week, at which time the site is to be selected by vote of the members of the League.

As not half of the territory has been canvassed for such subscriptions, it is plain that there will be no difficulty in securing ample capital.

A Sunday Parade.

At the Ulster County Dairymen's League meeting Monday night it was decided that all milk dealers drive to the creameries in their respective localities Sunday morning, not with wagons filled with milk, as has been the custom, but with empty wagons in order to prove to the shippers that they mean business. Picketing and missionary work among farmers who have refused to join the league thus far will also be done by members who hope to so organize this week that not a drop of milk will be carried to the creameries when October dawns next Sunday.

No Illegal Acts.

The suggestion that the milk of farmers who refused to join the league be dumped from the wagons met with opposition and was abandoned. J. E. Hasbrouck, Jr., of Modena, was especially emphatic in urging members against resorting to violent methods as likely to discredit the organization.

LOCAL APPEALS ARGUED.

Telephone and Drainage Cases Before the Appellate Division.

The appellate division heard arguments in two Ulster county cases at Saratoga on Wednesday:

Henry C. Elmendorf, respondent, against the New York Telephone Company, appellant. An appeal from a judgment in Ulster county of $25 for the plaintiff. The action was brought to recover $100 for trespassing in entering the plaintiff's property near Ashokan and cutting limbs from an apple tree and erecting poles and guy wires. Dr. G. Atkins for appellant and Frank Brooks for Mr. Elmendorf. When the case was tried here Mr. Elmendorf admitted that he had signed one of the telephone company's releases but did so with the understanding that he could direct the placing of the lines and he claimed that he did not give the company permission to erect the poles where they were placed.

The second case argued, No. 175—In the matter of the petition of De Witt C. DePuy, for the purpose of draining certain lands under the drainage act and the appointment of a commission. An appeal from an order in Ulster county court setting aside the decision of the commissioners appointed by the court. Elijah T. Russell for appellant; John W. Eckert for respondent.

REICHSTAG OPENS STORMY SESSION

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Berlin, Sept. 28.—With a promise of drastic submarine and Zeppelin warfare, critics of the food and censorship regulations and those who urge a coalition ministry all prepared for action the German Reichstag, or Imperial Parliament, reassembled today for what will probably be the stormiest sessions of its history.

Backed by Field Marshal von Hindenburg and the Kaiser, the opinion of a majority seems to be that Imperial Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg will weather the storm and continue in power with the government almost unaltered.

Hard words for the United States are expected from the submarine advocates, the so-called Tipitzitots, who scoff at American protests against British sea regulations, as insincere.

The Socialists, who have supported the Chancellor in the submarine dispute, are being asked by some of their leaders to forget factional differences and present a solid front in view of the critical stage of affairs.

The case of Dr. Karl Liebknecht, the Socialist leader, whose punishment for attempted treason and resistance to the military authorities and the police, has been increased to four years and one month in state prison, will in all probability cause much trouble.

The radical wing of the Socialists under the leadership of Deputy Hasse, a lawyer from Koenigsberg, has prepared an interpellation and will demand the immediate release of the convicted party leader. To give force to their demand the radicals threaten to organize a general strike of Socialist workmen.

Although these threats are daily repeated by the small part of the Socialist press which supports Mr. Liebknecht, they will hardly have any influence on the government, because an overwhelming majority of the people considers the conviction of the former deputy just and his punishment very lenient, in view of the gravity of his offense.

The military court of appeals, in increasing the prison term of the anti-war agitator and denying all civil rights to him for a period of seven years, held that a death sentence would have been justified. At his trial Liebknecht, who tried to organize a revolutionary demonstration on May 1, boasted that his aim was to start uprisings, so as to weaken the German fighting powers and bring about the defeat of the empire by France and England.

CALDER AND BACON GIVEN AN OVATION

A NEAR TRAGEDY ON FERRY STREET

While Rivals for Senatorial Nomination Enliven Gathering of Republicans at Saratoga—Platform to Carry Hughes's Ideas as Well as Some Empire State Doctrine.

By Telegram to the Freeman. Saratoga Springs, Sept. 28.—Taking the stand that what Charles F. Hughes, the national standard-bearer of the Republican party endorsed, they should ratify, the leaders of the delegates of that party in conference here today, decided to submit a platform containing his ideas and others of their own.

The document will be an eleventh-hour one, having been amended and written several times.

Few gatherings of politicians have been as unostentatious as the one here today. The eight hundred delegates to the convention filed in at will and took their seats. There were few demonstrations. Chairman Frederick C. Tanner of the Republican state committee mounted the rostrum without applause. The first hand clapping was for William M. Calder the nominee of the Republicans for the United States senate.

The neglect of the local committee to provide a clergyman to open the convention caused a somewhat lengthy wait.

It was freely predicted that George Eastman of Rochester and Thomas R. Proctor of Utica would be the two presidential electors at large to be selected late today.

At 12:43, Chairman Tanner called the conference to order and introduced Rev. George C. Douglass, who invoked Divine blessing.

Secretary Lafayette B. Gleason then read the call for the conference and the roll of the delegates. There were no substitutions. Two lists of delegates were read for Saratoga county. There being a contest, the matter was submitted to the committee on credentials.

Chairman Tanner presented the names of Nathan L. Miller as the candidate for temporary chairman. He was selected and amid tremendous applause, escorted to the platform by Robert Bacon and William M. Calder, the two opponents for the United States senatorial nomination. The appointment of the committee of escort caused one of the most pronounced ovations of the day.

The last draft of the platform contained an arraignment of the Wilson administration; an attack upon the Adamson eight-hour law on railroads; a plank suggesting the re-submission of the proposition of equal suffrage in 1917 without recommendation; an endorsement of the Whitman administration and the recommendation that the direct primary law be repealed.

The committee on platform at this writing, unannounced officially, is to meet at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

GLASCO.

Glasco, Sept. 28.—The funeral of Raymond Ten Broeck was held at 3 p. m. Wednesday at the family residence, conducted by Rev. S. M. Cole of Haines Falls, assisted by Rev. Nicholas Hess, of the Glasco M. E. Church. There was a large attendance, including the different organizations and lodges of which the deceased was a member. The beautiful floral display showed the high esteem in which he was held by the members and other friends and relatives. The I. O. of O. F. of Sugerties had charge of the burial service at Mountain View cemetery at Sugerties. The tragic ending of this young man's life has shocked the entire community where he was so well and favorably known, and the suffering of the bereaved widow and stricken parents none can fully realize.

William H. Ten Broeck is seriously ill and although he attended the funeral services of his son, Raymond, today, Dr. Diedling was constantly at his side.

Joseph Frazer is moving into the residence lately vacated by Harrison Wright.

George Delaney will leave next week for Schenectady, where he has secured employment in a locomotive works.

Rev. Nicholas Hess, of the M. E. Church, has been very successful during the past week in soliciting funds for the church repairs and improvements, and the work is progressing very favorably.

Employee, Overlooked Locked in Factory, Which Was Closed Until After Jewish Holidays—Man Finally Rescued.

Wednesday afternoon at 6 o'clock—sunset—the employees of the Kingston Dress Manufacturing Company on Ferry street, left the factory, and the doors were locked and were not expected to be unlocked again until after the Jewish holidays. About five minutes after the last employee had disappeared a strange noise of some one pounding on the doors was heard, but no one paid much attention to it. A little later employees of the Canfield Supply Company while unloading a wagon on the Ferry street entrance to the store heard a voice calling. Perplexed they glanced here and there until a voice said, "Here I am up here," and with one accord they glanced upward and there framed in the upper window was the form of a man.

"What's the matter," asked one of the workmen in the street below.

"I am locked in and can't get out," was the reply.

The employees hastened around looking for a ladder but could not find one long enough to reach up to the window where the imprisoned man was.

In the meantime the man became somewhat impatient for he had no relief for staying locked up until after the holidays, especially without anything to eat.

While plans were discussed as to the best method of getting the man out one man, passing by suggested calling out the Hook and Ladder Company by sending in a still alarm.

The idea was voted down but it gave one of the employees an idea and he hastened into the store and telephoned to the proprietor of the man being locked in the factory.

Shortly afterward a man appeared with the key and the imprisoned man was released.

Fire Threatens New Subway.

By Telegram to the Freeman. New York, Sept. 28.—The wooden superstructure holding up the walls of the new Seventh avenue subway between 49th and 50th streets was threatened with destruction today when a quantity of waste gasoline, near a storage tank, caught fire. After an hour it was put out. The clouds of smoke rolling up through the shoring over the subway excavation attracted a crowd so big police reserves had to be called out.

Long and Short Days.

At London, England, and Bremen, Prussia, the longest day has sixteen and a half hours. At Stockholm, Sweden, it is eighteen and a half hours in length. At Hameln, in Germany, and Danzig, Prussia, the longest day has seventeen hours. At Petrograd, Russia, and Tobolsk, Siberia, the longest is nineteen hours, and the shortest five hours. At Tromsø, Finland, June 21 brings a day nearly twenty-two hours long, and Christmas one less than three hours in length. At Wardsburg, Norway, the longest day lasts from May 21 to July 22 without interruption, and in Spitzbergen the longest day is three and a half months.

Bonnyclabber.

New drinks have sometimes a storied and brief popularity. Lord Stair, writing to Lord Colington in 1683, extols "bonnyclabber" which he says "is the bravest, bestest drink you ever tasted. Your Spanish doctor, on the heels of Madrid, laid his nose and shook his head an hour over every cup he took of it and take it to be the drink of the gods all the while."

No one, however, seems to know the exact composition of the seductive "bonnyclabber," although from an allusion to it by Ben Jonson it would seem to have been a mixture of beer and butter-milk.—London Chronicle.

Tolstoy's Wife.

Dr. Holmes once used a striking figure of speech in which he compared a great man to a "mashed" chip moving impressively up the ladder, but guided and propelled by the modest wife under his quarter. Some reminiscences by Tolstoy's son show that the mother of his family was the one that kept the great author on his course. "I learned over the manuscripts and tried to decipher the scrawl with her astonished eyes. My mother sat up late at night after every one else had gone to bed. She often discovered gross grammatical errors and pointed them out to my father and corrected them."

The Name "Noah."

Not many persons are sufficiently acquainted with the Bible to learn that Noah was the name of a woman as well as of the patriarch. At an inquest in England a female witness gave her Christian name as "Noah." The coroner remarked that he had never before known a woman to bear the name, whereupon the witness said: "It is a Bible name, or 'You'll find it in the last chapter of the Book of Numbers.'"

Reference was duly made, and in the eleventh verse of the thirty-sixth chapter the coroner found mention made of "Mahlah, Tirzah and Hagar and Zillah and Noah, the daughters of Zelophaad."

ENJOY THE PRESENT.

Get all the happiness you can out of the present. There can be no use in thinking of painful past things. They ought always to be forgotten as quickly as possible, for they have a trick of turning the present sour, the one thing we really have in hand. I like to make it as cheerful as possible, like to get, by industrious squeezing, every drop of honey out of it.—Selma von Arnim.

KINGSTON, N. Y., SEPT. 28, 1916.

"There is not a corporal's guard in this country in favor of militarism," declared Candidate Hughes at Pittsburgh, and further declared that the nation must be prepared to relieve delicate situations. "One way to do that," he said, "is to have a State Department equipped with the best men the country can find." The same is true of the Navy Department, the War Department and all the other cabinet offices. Can any person, well-informed on Hughes' record as Governor, imagine for a moment his selecting a Daniels to head the Navy, or a Bryan for Department of State? The record of the Democratic party for extravagance where it promised economy, for creating useless offices where it pledged abolition of all such, and for other failures in administration is in exact keeping with the President's selection of his cabinet members. Efficiency will be the chief test applied by Mr. Hughes, in the event of his election, to the men he will name to these important places. It may be that under such a desirable dispensation a graduate of the United States Naval Academy will be named as Secretary of the Navy and a West Pointer succeed to the chair wherein Secretary of War Baker is now painfully wobbling. If our two great schools for national defense are capable of anything there must be among their alumni men able in every way to assume and properly discharge such responsibilities. In any event the cabinet places will not go by favor. The odious term of "deserving" Democrats or Republicans is not known in the Hughes lexicon of public service.

President Wilson's fellow Democrats in New Jersey did not take kindly to his personal selection of a candidate for United States Senator and administered a decisive defeat to John W. Wescott by renominating Senator Martine by a majority of more than 22,000. The fatal effect of the support of the Federal administration in a state campaign is again demonstrated. Judge Wescott, whose cause the President had espoused so warmly, was picked as an easy winner, not only because of his personal popularity, but because of his prestige with the Washington wing of the party in New Jersey, he having made the speech nominating Mr. Wilson for the Presidency in 1912 and having performed a like eloquent service in St. Louis last June. Against him Senator Martine made a vigorous fight, sparing no opportunity to raise the issue against the President himself and relishing the role of an anti-administration candidate. Senator Martine's record in Congress is a negligible quantity and he was clever enough not to attempt to stand upon that, but rather made his battle against the Wilson policies and the President's practice of making Congress subordinate to, rather than co-ordinate with, the executive branch of government. Judge Wescott appears to have been weighted down with "Illusion—that's all. Senator Martine merely made his canvass upon a defiance of the President and his own refusal to visit the White House for "daily orders." The expression of New Jersey Democrats in their primaries upon the administration of their former Governor in the President's chair is a distinct repudiation which foreshadows the return of that State to the Republican column from the list of doubtful States at the November election.

Democrats who are capable of seeing a "victory" in the result of the Maine election have no difficulty in foreseeing a tidal wave for Wilson in doubtful States such as Indiana, where Mr. Hughes has just finished a speaking tour. Chairman Vance McCormick of the Democratic National Committee sees victory everywhere and has evidently made up his mind not to recognize defeat even if defeat speaks first. "Claim every thing" is traditional political sagacity and from present prospects the Democratic leaders are going to monopolize the stage for claims of advantage. In this manner the rank and file may be kept duly encouraged and a certain amount of prestige retained by the campaign managers. It is a question if these same managers are not often defeated by their own vain images. Mere members of the Democratic party are already aware of the large number of their fellow Democrats who are planning to vote for Hughes and Fairbanks.

It is this information that is the accurate index to the outcome of the election. But in making claims, it is far easier to do it by States and entire sections and, in the Democratic party's position, it is wisest to ignore the actual conditions just as much as possible.

Now that Secretary of War Baker has confessed that his idea of the Army being composed of blood-thirsty "critters" was shattered during the first few weeks of his experience as the head of the War Department, it would be entertaining if other confessions of cabinet members could be made public. Most of President Wilson's selections for heads of the different departments had about as accurate an idea of their charges previous to appointment, as Mr. Baker's childish admission shows him to have possessed. The literature of our foreign relations would be enriched by the true history of Mr. Bryan's conduct as Secretary of State while Editor Josephus Daniels's state of preparedness for the post of Secretary of the Navy and his notions of the duties thereof would be side-splitting if the office were not so important. Josephus had been in office more than a year and a half when he declared in December, 1914, that the navy was in a superb state of effectiveness and adequately manned. He agreed with the President that everyone who disagreed with that view of our sea defenses was "nervous and excited." Just as readily did Josephus put about when the President reversed himself and came out for the new navy law. The Secretary of the Navy is as adaptable as is his chief. He is now campaigning about the country instead of forwarding the belated construction of naval craft, although the latter is his plain duty. Indeed, the conduct of Josephus is such as to bear out the Navy yarn that the Secretary's energy is all "muzzle energy."

ONE YEAR AGO THE 3400 r.p.m. CHALMERS CAME INTO BEING; NOW 50,000,000 HAPPY MILES LIE BEHIND IT

Just one year ago the 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers was born.

September 30th is its Anniversary Day.

It was untried, unknown, looked a little strange because it was different, and nobody outside of four men knew what it could do.

These four men—the men who had dreamed the car—had little to say.

"What will it do?" they were asked.

"Get in and try," they replied.

And in three days' time every last Chalmers executive had experienced a thrill that was new behind the wheel.

They banged it around in city traffic, abused it on hills, ran it through broken fields, made it take hurdles they would never ask their own personal cars to take.

They were amazed and then they sat down and decided to build three times as many of these cars as they had ever built of any model in a single year before—$22,000,000 worth.

Then behold the situation. Six months later these 18,000 cars were all built. Then 10,000 more were ordered.

And a few days ago we got word that 20,000 more are being built—48,000 of these 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers.

48,000 in all—a $56,000,000 business in a single model!

So you see why we are proud to have a birthday party for the car.

Any car that has 50,000,000 happy miles of use behind it certainly has an interesting history and its birthday anniversary is an event.

Remember this is only its first birthday. So successful has the car proven that the Chalmers Company is continuing to build it right through into next year. So you're safe in getting a car now that won't be obsolete in the spring.

Consider the price, $1090 Detroit.

Come in today. Attend the birthday party.

BACKWARD CHILDREN

It has been proven repeatedly that the cause for "backward" school children is very often defective vision—the child having difficulty in seeing the blackboard, expects ambiguous and headachy, soiling eyes, etc.

Whether your boy or girl is backward or not don't you think it would be a good idea to have his or her eyes examined and know the condition of his vision and whether glasses would be of any aid. Drop in and see us about your child's eyes—it's a good policy.

LITTLE YELLOW CAR RAMBLES INTO TOWN

Mrs. Alice Snitzer Burke of New York, Miss Nell Richardson of Winchester, Va., and "Saxon," a coal black kitten arrived in Kingston on Wednesday and while in town are the guests of Mrs. M. J. Michael. Mrs. Burke, Miss Richardson and "Saxon," the kitten, are on the last lap of a tour which included a visit to the four corners of the United States. The entire trip has been made in a little yellow Saxon runabout and to date 10,500 miles have been completed. According to the schedule laid down when the trio left New York on April 6, the trip was to include a complete circuit of the United States and was to end at New York on Saturday, September 30, less than six months after the start and the most remarkable part of the trip is that the schedule has been maintained and entire trip was made with the two suffragettes at the wheel and "Saxon" the cat perched upon the radiator or sleeping on the top of the car.

The little yellow Saxon attracts hundreds of visitors in every city where they have stopped and at Elton while the occupants were at lunch an officer was stationed in the car to keep off the throng which crowded around. A meeting will be held this evening at the corner of John and Fair street when Mrs. Burke and Miss Richardson will speak from the car in the interest of suffrage.

The coast to coast trip was begun on April 6, going south to Atlanta, Ga., then west through Texas and across the Arizona desert to San Diego, then north through California to Seattle, and back through Montana and the Dakotas and the trip will end Saturday at 1:30 at New York city. The entire trip was made alone and covers in the neighborhood of 11,000 miles.

While on the Mexican border about the time of the mobilization of troops there the little yellow car and occupants traveled some times for an entire day without seeing a native other than the Mexicans who roam about. During the entire trip they were never molested however although at times they were near where raids occurred.

Four mountain ranges were crossed by the little car, and many a time the car was fast for hours in deep mud and sand but during the entire trip no mechanical trouble was experienced. Mrs. Burke makes a daily inspection of the car and takes entire care of the car. This morning before leaving the Central Garage, where the car was left during the night, Mrs. Burke was found filling oil cups and making minor adjustments to the car. Mr. Kennedy, proprietor of the Central Garage, is the local agent for the Saxon cars.

In every state visited speeches in the interest of suffrage were made. Three weeks were spent in Texas, five weeks in California and two weeks in South Dakota. Friday a stop will be made in Poughkeepsie, which is the last stop until New York is reached on Saturday.

The car is covered with names which have been scratched in the paint and the seat covers are black with the thousands of names of visitors along the route. On the hood of the car some enthusiastic booster of the west has painted, "Spokane, the best city," while boosters of other cities along the route have painted the names of their own town upon the car.

Shovels, spare tires, robe, desert water bags, a typewriter and during the western trip a sewing machine was a part of the baggage carried. Every available space has been utilized for spare parts, still the only trouble experienced was spring trouble on the rough mountain roads in the west.

Attached to one of the front lamps is an elk's horn presented by a pioneer of the west and attached to the rear of the top is a big yellow key three feet long presented by the mayor of San Jose, bearing the words, "Votes for Women." The skin of a snake which was killed by being run over on the western desert is draped over the back of the car.

During the entire trip the best roads were experienced in New York state and California although for long stretches other states have been improving the highways.

Both women are representing the National American Suffrage Association of which Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt is president.

The route as laid out with the dates of the arrival dates appear in the door of the car as follows: New York, April 6, 1916; New Orleans, April 27; Los Angeles, June 4; San Francisco, June 14; Seattle, July 13; Minneapolis, September 1; Chicago, September 12; Detroit, September 15.

Utter county suffragettes will undoubtedly give the travelers a welcome at the meeting this evening which will be as enthusiastic as any along the route.

During the morning the little yellow car and occupants made the trip around the Ashokan reservoir stopping along the route to gain supporters of "the cause."

Thought That Helps.
In old days there were angels who came and led them away from the city of destruction. We see no white-winged angels now. But yet men are led away from threatening destruction: a band is put into theirs, which leads them forth gently toward a calm and bright land, so that they look no more backward, and the band may be a little child's—George Eliot.

Backward Pupils.
In Detroit a record has been made of 100 cases, 61 boys and 39 girls, who were backward pupils. Five years after leaving school it was found that thirteen of the boys and four of the girls had been arrested at least once.

ASKS ALL TO AID WORK OF SCHOOLS

Parents and Pupils Can Co-operate With Teachers in Making Up Lost Time Declares Superintendent Michael in Appeal to School Spirit of Kingston.

Because of the suspension of school sessions through September on account of health regulations, Superintendent of Schools Michael believes that much co-operation will be required from parents as well as extra work from pupils and teachers in order to make up for the time thus lost. To avoid any misunderstanding in connection with the re-opening of the schools on Monday, Superintendent Michael today gave out a message to parents and pupils which is self-explanatory as follows:

Everything in readiness. The public schools of Kingston will open on Monday morning, October 2 at the usual hour. Our teachers have been in their places at the several school buildings since Tuesday morning, hard at work getting everything in readiness for their pupils to begin work promptly when school opens. There will be no lost time in getting ready. Because of the closing of our schools during the month of September I am sure we all feel the great importance of working hard to make up the lost time.

I believe that with the proper spirit on the part of pupils and teachers this can be done. It certainly must be done. The schools should be kept open on every holiday that the law will permit. The code provides that the schools shall be closed on certain holidays and permits them to be closed on certain other holidays. For instance it requires schools to be closed on Columbus Day but leaves with the local authorities to determine whether or not they shall be closed on Election Day.

Depending Upon Pupils.

I especially wish to make a strong appeal to every boy and girl in Kingston to be in school promptly on next Monday morning, ready for business and then to allow no outside matters to interfere with school work from now until the close of school next June. If we will all keep this appeal in mind, I am confident that examinations will be successfully passed. Boys and girls, let us show our parents what we can do, when we try real hard. I am depending on you as well as your teachers to accomplish this extra work and have it all done on time. I am sure you will not disappoint me.

It is our duty to our city to help our board of health preserve the good health of the community to the extent of our ability. Every one of you can do your part by being careful not to expose yourself unnecessarily to the head contagion that has come to the eastern part of country. Kingston has been exceptionally fortunate in the good work of its board of health and the efficient administration of its rules by its officers. Let us do all we can to help them.

Rules on Admittance.

"Resident children who returned to the city two weeks before October 2 will be admitted to school on Monday morning. A child who has returned to the city after September 13 will be required to remain in quarantine for two weeks from the date of his return to the city unless he can present a certificate from the city health department to the effect that it will be proper for such child to enter school before the expiration of the term of quarantine.

"All non-resident children coming to school by private or public conveyance should first secure a certificate from their local health officers indicating two weeks residence in a non-infected district prior to the opening of schools on October 2. This certificate must be taken to Dr. Johnston at city hall before the non-resident pupil presents himself for registration. Dr. Johnston will be in his office as early as eight o'clock on Monday morning to examine these non-resident certificates. After he has signed them, the pupils should then proceed to their respective schools and present the certificate to the principal of the school."

BROTHERHOOD MAY CALL NEW STRIKE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 28.—While unions having a total membership of 184,000 were preparing to vote today on a walk-out in sympathy with the striking traction workers there were bursts of rioting in which many people were hurt.

Surface and elevated trains were bombarded. At some points the police had to draw their revolvers to restore order. Many arrests were made.

The unions voting today included the New York building trades, with about 115,000 members; the teamsters, 20,000; the machinists, 45,000 and others.

A general strike, it was declared, could not assume alarming proportions without the building trades and strong pressure was exerted on the leaders in this branch of work.

Strike leaders asserted that nearly 200,000 men representing 127 unions, had laid down their tools during the last 24 hours and predicted that by tonight 263,000 men and women would have quit work.

Officials of the police department declared they had received no reports to justify these claims.

The Jewish holiday, which called for a suspension of work on the part of about 121,000 members of the United Hebrew Trades, was in force today and it could not be told how many would remain out in sympathy with the carmen.

The refusal of President Shonts of the Interborough to treat with officials of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, loomed up today as a menacing feature and there was talk of a separate strike on the part of the elevated and subway motormen who are members of the Brotherhood and who have remained at work.

This would produce the strange aspect of a strike within a strike among the traction employees.

More than a dozen arrests had been made before noon for attacks on cars. At Third Avenue and 96th Street strikers tried to derail a car by placing a huge boulder on the tracks. When the car stopped it was showered with stones and all the windows smashed. One "forty-two centimeter" missile nearly tore out the side of the car. Four arrests were made and the mob was dispersed by the police.

Friction has grown up between A. L. Gridley, organizer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and Organizer Fitzgerald, of the carmen's union, and there were bristling exchanges in interviews given out by Fitzgerald accusing Gridley of working for the interests of the Interborough.

At the same time Gridley gave out a statement saying that he would tie up the elevated "tighter than a drum" unless demands of the Brotherhood are met.

BRINGS FAMILY OF
SEVEN TO SCHOOL

Kentucky Mountaineer Would Not Let Motherless Brood be Separated and all Will "Git Eddication" Together.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, D. C., Sept. 28.—The searching pathos of conditions in a small corner of what might be termed Unknown America is mirrored in a communication received by the National Geographic Magazine from Miss Ethel De Long, of the executive committee of the Pine Mountain Settlement School, Pine Mountain, Harlan county, Kentucky. Striking indeed is this picture given by the correspondent in her simple yet su-premiely sympathetic recital of the paternal yearning of a white Kentucky mountaineer to obtain educational advantages for his motherless brood of seven:

A man has just walked in from Big Creek, thirty miles away, to try to enter all of his seven in our school. He would not leave only the older ones because as he said, "If I part 'em while they're little fellers, they won't have no feelin's fer each other when they're raised. I want ye to take 'em all or none. Git was ye take mammy's last wish that I keep 'em together. I'll jest do fer 'em myself the best I kin, if you can't take 'em all."

He brought with him an irresistible appeal, a word picture of two seven, and his tale of how he has "keered" for them. Thirty-four years old, worn, stooped, toothless, he has made a gallant fight to raise his children right. He mentioned the children's clothes: "I've made 'em all," he said. "I couldn't hire nobody to sew fer 'em, so I jest made
'em everything they wear, myself.
I've washed fer 'em, I've tended 'em, an' then I've gone out in the cornfield to work for 'em. I've raised 'em as right as I know, but I can't do fer 'em lak I ought."

He got right sick with the phthisic, an' I've studied about what would happen to 'em if I was to be tuk off from 'em. When I have to go away from 'em to earn a leetle money, hit's sesh a dread on me, les' they git burned up at night, s'posin' the house should ketch fire, an' leetle fellers allus so sleepy-headed at layin'-down time. Sometimes I'm afraid to go home."

"Why don't you marry again," I asked, "so as to get help in raising your children?"

Tears came into his eyes. "Hit's best fer leetle younguns to hev jest one mammy, an' s'posin' I'd thought to help 'em a-marryin' again, I might a got 'em in a mighty bad state."

"If we take the children, are you going to marry again?" said I.

"No'm, I'm done with marryin'. I jest want my younguns raised right, whilst I'm a tryin' to make the money for 'em."

"You see, we don't want children whose parents want to get rid of them," said I. "But ones whose parents want them to have a good education."

"Yes," he said, "I know. That's the reason I want 'em here. You want younguns whose parents has got diligence and with innards to raise 'em toward humanity. Yes, I'll pay ye all I can make fer 'em, ef ye'll jes' raise 'em right. I've raised 'em to work. I've worked myself. I begun when I was seven, an'
I couldn't sit much education. In my raised-up hit was one day in school and the next day out; one week in school, an' the next week out. I want 'em to git a chance to make their livin's—to live, an' not be bowed under lak I've been."

"No, they don't swar, ner cuss;
an' they hadn't got no mean ways when they're in my sight. I've brought ye a recommendation from folks that met ye when ye come through Big Creek five or six years ago."

We were moved with compassion, although our annual pledges must be multiplied four-fold to care for the sixty children we already have, besides the seven "leetle fellers," from the "chunk of a girl, jes' goin' on five" to the fifteen year old boy who has hoed corn all summer.

How could we resist those faces and the patient father who has done the best he "knowed"? We told him to bring them, all seven. An hour go he started back on his long thirty miles to make the children ready.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mrs. Norman A. Burr of No. 100 Main street, who will leave town within a short time for Yonkers, where she and Mr. Burr will make their home in the future, was visited Wednesday by the officers of Clinton Chapter, No. 445, Order of the Eastern Star, of which she is the treasurer, and presented with a gold signet ring with a star emblem. The presentation was made by Miss Ethel Van Aken, worthy matron of the chapter, and Mrs. Burr responded with much feeling. After the presentation a social hour was enjoyed.

A most delightful surprise party was given to Christian Spalt at his home on Delaware avenue on Wednesday evening by a number of his friends. Among those present were: Hilda Spalt, Marguerite Spalt, Viola Berryman, Irene Plattner, Ruth Gill, Helen Darry, Viola Bilyou, Kathryn Murphy, Gertrude Egbertson, Jane Tretheway, Susie Geisler, Mildred Schwab, Christian Spalt, John Murphy, Henry Spalt, William Spalt, Harold Tretheway, Allen Baker, Webster Craue, Ralph Heppner, Frank Murphy, Ogden Wells, Eugene Kolts, William Dunne and Mr. and Mrs. William Dougherty. All departed at a late hour voting Mr. Spalt a royal entertainer.

Lovejoy-Roe.

Clarence Ernest Lovejoy of New York city and Mrs. Margaret Roe of No. 143 Hunter street, were united in marriage on Monday by the Rev. P. S. Baringer of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer on Wurts street.

Wolf-Fitzsimmons.

Miss Marie Fitzsimmons of Stony Hollow and Thomas J. Wolf of Kingston, were married on Tuesday afternoon at St. John's Church at Stony Hollow by the Rev. Father Speilman. The bride was gown in white and her bouquet was lilies. Miss Marcella Crell was made of honor and Harold Fitzsimmons, a brother of the bride, was best man. On their return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Wolf will reside at Sawkill.

Haber-Lewis.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the bride's home in Catskill on Monday when Miss Myrta Lewis of that village became the wife of Edward Haber of New Salem, Ulster county. The Rev. G. W. Downs of the Methodist Episcopal Church performed the ceremony. The bride wore a gown of blue tulle silk and carried a bouquet of roses. A wedding supper followed the ceremony after which Mr. and Mrs. Haber left on the night boat from Catskill for New York where they will visit the bride's sister and friends of the groom. The bride wore a traveling suit of blue with a large picture hat to match. Upon their return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Haber will reside in New Salem where the best wishes of their many friends follow them.

Golf Tournament.

Arrangements for the annual fall club golf tournament of the Twaitskill Club have been completed by H. S. Jennings, Judge Van Ethen and Rodney B. Osterhout, composing the greens committee.

The qualifying round will be played on Friday, September 29, or Saturday, September 30.

Match plays will commence Saturday, October 7, for first rounds; Saturday, October 14, for second rounds and Saturday, October 21, for finals.

There will be first, second and third prizes.

The eight lowest gross scores will be entitled to play in the club championship, which will be played off at match play without handicaps on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 26, 27 and 28.

Tierney-Robb.

A wedding of much interest took place Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Holy Name Church, Wilbur, where Miss Teresa M. Robb became the bride of Francis Leo Tierney of East Kingston. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father James S. Prendergast, pastor of the church. As the wedding party approached the altar Miss Catherine Dougherty rendered Mendelssohn's wedding march and during the service sang "Oh, Promise Me." The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of white satin and Irish point lace with a veil caught up with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley and bride roses. Miss Beatrice Robb, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore a pretty gown of pink net over pink silk. She carried pink roses. William Tierney, a brother of the groom, was best man. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride at which a large number of friends extended congratulations and best wishes. Guests were present from New York, Jersey City, Pittsburgh and East Kingston. The bride in addition to a costly and profuse array of tokens consisting of cut glass, china, linen, etc., received a substantial check. Mr. and Mrs. Tierney will spend their honeymoon in Boston and upon their return from their wedding trip will make their home in East Kingston.

Happy Golden Wedding.

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Burger, which was celebrated on Wednesday, was indeed a golden event, for it was only needed for the many old friends of Mr. and Mrs. Burger to be told of the sickness and misfortune that had befallen them to bring them forth a heartfelt interest in the event which was presided over by Mrs. W. Scott Gillespie, who as president of the Sunshine Society, does so many beneficent acts in the community. To begin with the day was full of golden sunshine out of doors. Then Mrs. Pike, one of the neighbors, had invited Mr. and Mrs. Burger and daughter to have chicken dinner with her, and all arrangements had been made to get the two invalids to the dinner party, a happily anticipated and even happier realized event. In the afternoon, Mrs. Gillespie and other friends called, and the former was the bearer of $100 in gold, the gift of many friends of the Burger family. It would be difficult to tell which was the happier, the couple, celebrating the joyous event, which comes to the lives of so few people, or Mrs. Gillespie, who had been so instrumental in bringing about the celebration. The gratitude of Mr. and Mrs. Burger was indeed pathetic, and was such as to a thousandfold repay all who had had any part in gilding the event. In addition to the money, Gottielli sent a basket of peaches, the Van Anders sent ice cream, Miss Kenny contributed candy and nuts, Mrs. Hicks gave vegetables, Miss Edmonson sent canned fruit, Mrs. Fred Gallagher remembered the bride and groom with an angel cake and fruit, and Burgeria saw to it that the floral decorations were fitting to the occasion. Best of all, so many people, learning of the misfortunes of the family in this way, will continue to have an active interest in making life easier for the two invalids and the overburdened mother. In addition to the $100 in gold presented yesterday, Mrs. Gillespie has since received $30 more, in gold, showing how sincere and widespread is the kindly feeling for this man and woman, who have just passed the fiftieth mile stone in life together, and for their invalid daughter.

Mrs. Griffiths's Ninetieth Birthday.

Surrounded by more than one hundred and fifty of her personal friends, Mrs. Anna M. Griffiths, a life long Kingstonian and member of the First Reformed Dutch Church, celebrated her ninetieth birthday on Wednesday from three to five o'clock in the parlors of the chapel of the church.

The platform where Mrs. Griffiths received, with Mrs. Theodore Spore, who has passed her ninety-first birthday as her companion in happiness, was banked with palms and ferns. A beautiful cluster of yellow and white chrysanthemums tied with broad bands of white satin ribbon with the figures "1826-1916" in gold, was on a table at the right. On the left, the birthday cake with its ninety red and white candles and the inscription

1826 Sept. 27th.
Happy be the day
A. M. G.
1916.

On the piano were the gift flowers, roses, marguerites, hydrangeas, asters and lilies vying in beauty and profusion with those that may grace and be presented to any of the season's debutantes.

During the afternoon, ices, cakes and lemonade were served by the members of the Ladies' Aid Society and the younger ladies of the Henrietta Wynkoop Guild.

At four o'clock the candles on the cake were lighted and the guests were bidden to come forward to blow them out with a good wish accompanying the act. The Rev. Dr. J. L. Leeper, pastor of the church, blew out the last candle and then addressed Mrs. Griffiths. He congratulated her on her long life and called to mind the fact that during the period of the first locomotive engine was tried out; railroads were developed, steam navigation was perfected, kerosene oil was discovered and used as a lumiant to be superseded by illuminating gas and that in turn by electricity.

Mrs. Griffiths was born the year that Thomas Jefferson became president of the United States, and Dr. Leeper said that could Mr. Griffiths look on she would have seen all but two of the president of the United States. During her life nine presidents have been born, only three of whom are now living.

In concluding, her pastor paid a high tribute to the nobility of character and achievements of the guest of honor. He said: "The secret of Mrs. Griffiths's old age is her interest in the world; in her friends, in her neighbors, and the fact that while she has had her share of trouble she has brought sunshine wherever she has gone. She has practiced her religion and it has brought her the respect and honor and love of a host of friends."

Mrs. Griffiths replied in a few well chosen words and waxed warm from the heart words, expressing her profound gratitude and appreciation of the love and loyalty of her many friends.

Dr. Leeper then read the following short poem written by Mrs. Peter C. Osterhout in honor of Mrs. Griffiths's ninetieth birthday:

"The Lord bless and keep 'thee!'"
What greeting shall we give you
As we meet with you today.
For the wish that we would wish you
Goes beyond what we could say.
Yet unspoken thoughts rise heavenward

In the silence when we pray.
We will breathe our intercessions
Before God's altar throne
And the best that we can wish you Shall be told to Him alone.

And the best thought we can give you
Is for Him, and not our own
And your name shall be remembered
In the Blessed Presence there
Where remembrances are sacred
And each memory has a prayer.
And where loving thoughts shall Leave you
In a loving Father's care.

The enjoyment of the afternoon was greatly heightened by the singing of "Comin' Through the Rye," and "Just a Song at Twilight," sung by Miss Molyneux, with W. Waiting Frederburgh at the piano. At the close of this long to be remembered event, and Mrs. Griffiths's request, Miss Molyneux led all present in singing "Auld Lang Syne."

The reception was planned and put into execution by Mrs. F. A. Ingalls of New York, daughter of the late David Houshtaling, and a cousin of Mrs. Griffiths, who was assisted by Mrs. Frank J. Shuler of Buffalo, a niece of Mrs. Griffiths, Mrs. J. L. Leeper and Mrs. Phoebe Roosa, president of the Ladies' Aid Association of the Church, and the members of that organization.

LIFE IN SARDINIA DELIGHTS VISITORS

One of Few Spots in Europe Whose Ruins Do Not Suggest Present War—People Generous and Hospitable Though Poor.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 28.—When Europe, at peace once more, invites the American traveler to its shores, one of the few spots whose ruins will not suggest the sanguinary struggle which has brought sorrow and desolation to practically all that war-torn continent is little-known Sardinia, the subject of a communication from Helen Dunstan Wright to the National Geographic Society. A part of the writer's descriptive article has been issued by the society as a geography bulletin which says:

"Those who have taken the Mediterranean route have at least had a glimpse of Sardinia from their steamer a day out of Naples. The island is in sight for some hours, and, if the steamer passes sufficiently close, a bold, rocky coast can be seen on which Roman outlook towers remain similar to those scattered along the south shores of Spain. The tourist seldom includes a trip to Sardinia in his travels, as neither of his advisers, Thomas Cook nor Baedeker, recommends it to him. It, however, is one of the few foreign fields that has not been overrun and overtaken by the tourist, and in many of the villages a traveler is still regarded as a guest and not as a prey to be pounced upon.

"Some day, when tourists are tired of taking the tours laid out for them by the guide-books, perhaps they will break away from the continent and set sail for Sardinia, especially if they are not traveling just to enjoy hotel comforts. One can rent a good automobile at Cagliari, and a week spent touring around the island would probably leave the pleasantest of recollections and an experience long to be remembered.

"Sardinia can be reached by an eight hours night voyage from Civitavecchia, the port of Rome, to the north end of the island. The crossing is quite comfortable. The beauty of the sunrise over the sheer cliffs and the craggy isolated rocks of Golfo del Arca compensates for getting up at five in the morning. "As soon as one lands, a refreshing fragrance in the air is noticed—a perfume characteristic of Sardinia—not due, certainly, to orange trees, as suggested by the name of the port, there being none in this district, but to the many wild herbs and shrubs all over the island.

"Except for the eucalyptus and pine planted near the stations, there is a noticeable lack of trees along the railway routes. Among the mountains, however, which occupy the eastern half of the island and occur to some extent along the western coast, there are important forests of oak, ilex, cork, and wild olive. In the mountainous areas of the island are many fertile valleys.

"The town of Macomer is the center of a region where many fine horses are bred for the Italian army, as are also the small ponies used in Naples. Cagliari, at the southern end of the island, is the principal seaport of Sardinia, and is often visited for a few hours by tourists taking the weekly steamer from Genoa and Livorno to Tunis. The bay of Cagliari is most impressive. On the right and left as you enter are hills, with mountains in the distance, while rising up from the lowlands directly opposite the entrance is the city, on a rocky hill 400 feet high. The top of this hill is encircled by a massive wall, built by the Pisans in the 13th century. At two of the angles rise the towers of the Lion and the Elephant, but of the tower of the Eagle, which completed the triangle; only the base remains. In the center of these fortifications is the old town. On the slopes of the hill outside the walls is built the modern city of 52,000 inhabitants, the largest in Sardinia. The entire population of the island is estimated at 796,000, density of population of 85 per square mile; that is a much lower figure than in any other part of Italy.

"Among the objects historically interesting in Cagliari are the rock-cut tombs on the hillside below the Castello. These are probably of the same period as the nuraghi, the famous prehistoric truncated cones 30 feet in diameter at the base and built by the men of the Bronze Age.

"The nuraghi were undoubtedly fortified habitations. They are usually situated in commanding positions at the entrance to tablelands, near the fords of rivers, or on almost inaccessible mountain peaks and within signaling distance of one another. Traces of a least 5,000 of these remains have been found.

"The ancient tombs of the nuraghi are usually found near them. These are called the tombs of the giants and are 3½ feet wide and from 20 to 40 feet long, with a roof of flat slabs or rocks and with the sides made of the slabs or of rough walling. The bodies were probably arranged in a sitting position, plain front of the tombs are circles about 40 feet in diameter surrounded by stones, these were, no doubt, used for sacrifices and burial rites.

"To get an insight into the life of the inhabitants of this isolated island, one should visit its villages. It is in the entire eastern half, with its mountainous valleys and villages, where the real Sards now live. Here one will find them good looking and in good health, generous, hospitable, honorable and quite poor. Politeness is carried almost to an extreme. Often as one rides through the small villages the women, children and the old men sitting at the doorsteps rise and wish you a 'buon viaggio,' or if it happens to be noon, some may wish you a 'buon appetito.' Even the young boys are taught to take their hats off when strangers pass by; and if one is in an automobile and happens to stop to get out his Kodak, a crowd of youngsters seems to spring up around the car, all anxious to be in the picture. To refuse a cup of coffee or a liqueur when visiting the house of an inhabitant of a village is an act of great discourtesy, and even the poorest have some beverage to offer.

"Generally speaking, the peasants seem to be somewhat downtrodden and do not realize their just rights. The music of the Sards is characteristic; not all quick and vivacious like that of the Sicilians or other southern Italians but monotonous and slow, resembling very much the music of northern Africa. The Sards' costumes are one of their greatest attractions. They are of rich, harmonious, though brilliant, colors, each village having its own distinctive type."

TOPICS NEW YORK IS TALKING ABOUT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 28.—Speaking at Baltimore, President Wilson said, "The only thing I have been ashamed of in America is the fear and trembling of Americans in the presence of foreign competitors." Possibly Mr. Wilson is to be congratulated that he feels no shame for his own fear and trembling in the presence of foreigners. But he should not censure American business men too severely. They realize that while Mr. Wilson is in control at Washington their foreign competitors may murder them in cold blood, torpedo the ships they travel on, outrage their wives and kill and mutilate their children with impunity; that the administration at most will merely write a note. They know that their foreign competitors may forfeit their property by unjust laws and decrees, as Carranza is doing now, and Mr. Wilson will probably defend and support the foreigner. It is not recorded that American business men have shown fear or trembling before their foreign competitors. But if Mr. Wilson knows of an instance where they have, it certainly is not for him to misunderstand the reason or to censure them severely.

Carranza Impatient.

"General" Carranza has grown decidedly impatient at the waste of time which is going on at New London. With considerable reluctance he consented to a conference and then instructed his delegates to discuss nothing but the withdrawal of American troops from Mexican territory, at least until an agreement on that point had been reached. Weeks have passed and no agreement on that point has been reached, and Carranza is strongly disposed to terminate the conference. In an effort to avert this, from a Democratic standpoint, disaster, Eliseo Arredondo, "Ambassador designate," has gone home to talk to the First Chief, having induced Carranza to "recall" him for that purpose. Some of those who have been in close touch with the New London conference maintain that it is rapidly approaching dissolution. The conference is, by the way, to transfer the scene of its labors to Atlantic City as it is believed the great seaside resort will afford more opportunities pleasantly to kill time, and as the United States pays all expenses there is no objection to the move.

Americans Pray Relief.

American citizens having mining interests in Mexico have filed a formal protest, drawn up by William Look, Jr., long secretary to President Roosevelt, against the confiscatory taxes imposed on their property by Carranza. Carranza has imposed a tax of 13 per cent on the gross value of every ton of metal owned. This must be paid in gold and the Carranza officials compel the miners to buy the gold at prices greatly in excess of the regular exchange rates. Eighty per cent of the mining operations in the country have been suspended and the report says that under Carranza "the conditions have gradually become worse instead of better." As President Wilson has never even remonstrated with his friend Carranza because of his order imposing a trial by military court-martial and death to all railway strikers and to all who befriended or show sympathy with such strikers in any way, the miners hardly look for relief as the result of anything this administration may do, but they felt it their duty to place the facts formally in the hands of Secretary Lane.

Who's Timid?

Apocryphal of President Wilson's declaration that he is "ashamed of the timidity of American business men" in the face of their foreign competitors, Leslie M. Shaw, former Secretary of the Treasury, points out that the late J. J. Hill showed no such timidity, that on the contrary, he showed great courage and enterprise in establishing a steamship line to the Orient, that the Pacific Mail Steamship Co., did the same thing, and that President Wilson, by signing the La Follette bill, signed the death warrant of American shipping on the Pacific, turning it over to the Japanese, and Gov. Shaw points out further that it was "fear and trembling" in the face of what he conceived to be the wishes of the labor voters which made Mr. Wilson sign the Seaman's bill. He says further that the late E. H. Harriman conceived the idea of a great railway system to traverse Mexico and connect this country by rail with all the Latin American republics and that by his Mexican policy Mr. Wilson has set back that project at least half a century, and that most of Mr. Wilson's Mexican policy has been prompted by his fear and trembling lest he lose so much political capital as might be made by the Democratic slogan, "He has kept us out of war."

Hughes Defies Wilson.

While he is exercising the utmost self-control to avoid attacking the personal character of Woodrow Wilson which, after all, is the real issue of this campaign, Gov. Hughes is gradually coming to censure Mr. Wilson far more severely than he did at first. In Ohio Mr. Hughes has defied President Wilson to deny that he instructed his personal representative, John Lind, that he, the President, had decided that Huerta must go, and that if domestic means could not be found to drive Huerta from Mexico, other means would be employed. Mr. Hughes pointed out that the World, the official organ of the Wilson Administration, had sought a denial of Mr. Hughes' original charge and had been refused, the administration merely saying that Secretary Lansing or Secretary Daniels would answer—not deny—the charge in due time. "I now challenge the administration to deny that the authorization was given," said Mr. Hughes.

Missouri in the Senate.

As a reason for supporting the railway wage-increase bill, Senator Jim Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, said, "I talked with a man who is manifestly a nervous wreck. He used to pull the Twentieth Century Limited between Chicago and New York. He told me that by actual mathematics it could be demonstrated that upon that run the engineer holding that trollee had to read and record in his own brain six signals every second. Eight hours a day is long enough for that kind of labor. Eight hours is long enough for the passengers to ride behind a man under that kind of a strain." The truth is that this train is run by seven successive engineers, no one of whom runs over four hours, while each receives far more than eight hours' pay for from three to four hours' work, being paid mileage instead of time. Furthermore, even if the train made 60 miles an hour continuously, it would travel only 88 feet a second, so six signals a second would mean one each 16 2/3 feet. Missouri's present representative in the senate is no credit to that state, and it is not surprising that there is excellent prospect that Missouri will improve that representation after March 4.

Democrats Crawl.

The Woodrow Wilson College Men's League has crawled before the challenge of the Hughes National College League, and practically admits its secretary misrepresented the facts as charged by the Hughes organization. Replying to the challenge of the Hughes organization to have a reputable audit company examine the enrollment cards of both leagues with a view to proving whether the Wilson organization's contention that more Princeton men were for Wilson than for Hughes, or its denial by the Hughes organization was true, "Big Bill" Edwards, National Secretary, declines, says he has been misquoted and that he no longer makes the claim.

The ordination and installation of the Rev. George B. Schoiten, pastor of the New Hurley Reformed Church, was held on Thursday afternoon, September 21, at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Garrett DeMott, pastor of the Wallkill Church, had charge of the services.

The installation sermon was preached by the Rev. A. I. Martine, pastor of the New Prospect Church. The Rev. J. R. Sisoo of Walden delivered the charge to the congregation and the Rev. M. V. Ogel, pastor of the New Paltz Reformed Church, delivered the charge to the pastor. Several other ministers were present and assisted in the services.

Following the installation services the members of the congregation tendered a reception to their new pastor, to which all who attended the services were cordially invited.

To Remind You--

That among breakfast cereals there is no food equalling Grape-Nuts in flavor, attractive form and rich nourishment.

Remember, please, that Grape-Nuts is not a mere Wheat Food. In its making, Malted Barley is so processed and blended with Whole Wheat that Grape-Nuts far exceeds simple Wheat Foods, however good, not only by its rare, rich flavor, but by its greater digestive and nourishing power.

Foremost among Grape-Nuts users are men of business affairs who realize the need of clear thinking for the morning's work. They find the easy digestion and invigorating nourishment of Grape-Nuts meet the demand perfectly.

FEDERATION PLANS FOR BUSY SEASON

In spite of the fact that many people are still out of town, taking advantage of the prolonged vacation, there was a well attended and enthusiastic meeting of the executive committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs held this morning at the home of the president, Mrs. C. K. Moulton.
Plans were presented and somewhat arranged for the new work which the Federation will take up this year in place of the maintenance of the Federation House, and some of the committees were completed and other matters of importance considered.

Miss Mary Schaeffer, secretary, read the minutes of the last executive committee meeting and also of the general meeting, in order that all present might have a clear idea of the plan and scope of the proposed new work. Mrs. Phoebe Roosa, treasurer, gave the following report:

Receipts.

Balance received from the out-going treasurer, Mrs.

Merritt ..... $ 69.05

Turned in from lawn party

uptown for Red Cross fund 71.33

Rent from room at Federation House ..... 2.00

From sale of furnishing of Federation House ..... 17.75

Total receipts .....$160.13

Disbursements.

J. M. Schaeffer, Treasurer Red

Cross fund ..... $ 56.73

Expenses Red Cross lawn

party ..... 14.60

Total disbursements ... $ 71.33

Balance on hand ..... $ 88.80

The sum of $88.80 includes $23.05

which belongs to the public health committee and the new treasurer was authorized to withdraw that amount, making two separate funds, the Federation fund, having to its credit $65.75, and the public health fund, having to its credit $23.05. In addition it should be stated that through the instrumentality of the Federation of Women's Clubs $104.50 was raised at the downtown lawn party for the Red Cross funds, but those in charge paid that money directly to Mr. Schaeffer, treasurer of the Red Cross, so that the transaction does not show upon the treasurer's books of the Federation.

Several letters were read by the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Gray, and acted upon by the committee.

Announcement was made that the district federation meeting would be held on Saturday, October 14, at Catskill and as many members of the general federation, as can, are urged to attend this meeting, as much valuable information regarding neighborhood work can be gathered at these district meetings. The 10:52 a. m. West Shore train will reach Catskill in time for the opening sessions, and Mrs. Fessenden, the district chairman, will make public further data regarding the meeting in a few days.

The two affiliated bodies of the federation which have been most active during the summer were shown to be the Sunshine Society, which has, as usual, been busy with its beneficent work, and the Social Center Association which has everything in order for the opening of its classes at School No. 3, as soon as the quarantine is raised. Miss Ruth Ashler, pupil of the domestic economy sewing class of the high school, will have charge of these classes and a systematic plan will be carried out whereby a large number of girls may be given a full course of sewing lessons, graduated, making room for others from time to time.

Another matter brought up was the consideration of bringing to Kingston this season, three persons, who have been doing world's work of such importance as to give them a national reputation, who shall speak to the people of Kingston. The following committee will most carefully consider this matter, and report so that definite action may be taken upon the problem at the October meeting of the executive committee, Mrs. Moulton, Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. Fessenden, Mrs. Reed and Mrs.
Lawton.

Another matter which will make that meeting, to take place not later than the middle of October, one of interest, not only to the federation but to the entire community, will be the announcement of the completed completion of the following committees, which will cover the work to be undertaken by the federation this winter:

Social Center, Auditing, Public Health and Child Welfare, Press,
Civic Work, Educational Work,
Theater Censorship, Conservation, Membership.

To Keep Plants Fresh.

There is a simple way to water ferns and flowers which will be of interest to one who must leave them for a time without care. Take a washing tub and place three or four bricks in it and put about two inches of water in the tub. Place the flowers on these bricks and place the tub where they can get the morning sunshine.

PLACES BAN ON FOOTBALL HERE

Sanitary Committee of Health Board Decide to Quarantine Football Players of High School if They Play Out of Town.

The football schedule of the Kingston high school will not be carried out this fall and it is likely that but few games will be played this season due to the infantile paralysis situation throughout the state. At a meeting of the sanitary committee of the board of health held on Wednesday evening it was decided that the education board be notified that if the high school football team play games out of town that they will be placed under quarantine for two weeks upon their return to the city. It was also decided not to allow football teams from other schools outside of Kingston to come to Kingston and play the local team. As the education board meets Friday evening it is likely the matter will come up for discussion. It was decided to discharge the members of the quarantine squad on Saturday night of this week. All non-resident children, including those who attend the public schools here, will be placed under quarantine, and resident children who have spent their vacations in infected districts and do not return until school opens will also be placed under quarantine.

SATURDAY OPENING OF HUNTING SEASON

Extra Day for Partridge, Woodcock, Rabbits and Squirrels Because October 1st Falls on Sunday.

The hunting season on partridge, woodcock, cotton tail rabbits and gray squirrels will open on Saturday, September 30, and by that time local hunters will be in their glory, scouring all the wooded lands in this section for the popular wild birds and animals which are so greatly prized by hunters. Although the season does not officially open until October 1, as prescribed by the game laws, hunters are given an extra day privilege because the statutes say: "When the hunting season on game opens on Sunday hunters are allowed to shoot game on the preceding day."

This extra day privilege will be taken advantage of by many local lovers of the sport, who are now busy getting their guns, and other paraphernalia, in condition for the first day of the season. The season on wild duck, snipe and rail has already opened, the ban having been lifted on September 16.
